10 gin cocktails you can make in minutes - BBC Good Food

When we talk about iconic gin cocktails, the New Orleans (or Ramos Gin) Fizz must be included in the conversation. It is a complicated cocktail that requires dedication and the results are worth it.

The mix is one of gin, citrus, syrup, cream, orange flower water and egg white and it is that last ingredient that is both essential and designates this drink for the dedicated cocktail lover.

Sloe gin fizz. Give wonderfully wintry sloe gin a mean cocktail kick. You'll need: 50ml sloe gin 20ml lemon juice 15ml syrup 20ml egg whites. Shake together the sloe gin, lemon, sugar syrup, a rosemary sprig and the fresh egg white with ice. Then, shake without the ice to ensure maximum frothage.

The Tom Collins would be one of the most well known of the Collins', made using a sweeter style, Old Tom gin. The collins cocktail is a great base to create variations by adding complimentary components and flavours such as elderflower, lychee and other fruit flavours in the form of fresh fruit, syrups and liqueurs.

One of the most refreshing cocktails around is the ever-riffable gin and tonic. The requisite ingredients are gin and bitter, quinine-tinged tonic water. Like a martini, there is a lot of room for ...

Gin and tonics are one of my favorite cocktails, but I often like experimenting with different add-ins instead of the traditional lime wedge. The salt from the preserved lemon really brings out the natural botanical flavors in the gin.
