Bint Allah knows herself only as the Daughter of God. Born in a stifling male-dominated state, ruled by the Imam and his coterie of ministers, she dreams of one day reaching the top of a distant hill visible through the bars of the orphanage window. But Bint Allah's ambitions do not escape the attention of the Imam, who never feels secure no matter how well he protects himself.

The term "Fall of Man" is not used in the Bible. It is a theological expression for the descent from perfection to sin. "Man" is a generic biblical word for the human race, including both men and women.

The first of the two brutal events concerned is the stoning to death of the mother of a young girl: "they cut out her tongue first. Later came the rest. For the Imam ruled according to the laws of God's Shari'a." The second is the final assassination of the Imam. Though repetitive, the effect is haunting and often mesmerising. The Fall of the Imam by Nawal El Saadawi | New Humanist
